

FLOOD WATERS ON TRI-STATE AREA, 3 DEAD

Waters Fast Reaching 1936 Flood Stage In Some Harried Districts

(By Associated Press)
WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., May 28.—Raging flood waters of the Susquehanna river swept over large areas of North-Central Pennsylvania and Southern New York state today, damaging millions of dollars worth of property and causing at least three deaths.

The most severe flood in the area since 1936, covered a fifth of the residential areas of this city of 45,000 persons and left the district virtually isolated.

In the oil region near Bradford, Pa., flood damage was estimated at more than $500,000.

As the crest of the flood moved east and south today, waters swept over banks at Lock Haven, Towanda and Wilkes-Barre, Pa., and in other areas.

Red Cross Alerted

The American Red Cross was alerted for emergency aid to persons made homeless by the flooding waters, but in most places roads were impassable, flying was impossible and railroads were operating under severe handicaps.

In Williamsport the flood, caused by four days of heavy rains culminating in a cloudburst yesterday, reached a stage of 27.5 feet, five and a half feet above flood stage, with a crest of 33 feet predicted.

In the disastrous 1936 flood which damaged millions of dollars worth of property and made thousands in Central Pennsylvania homeless, the flood waters reached 33.6 feet here.

Scores of smaller communities were isolated, thousands of dollars worth of property lost and at least two persons died as the heavy spring rains flooded areas in Central and Western Pennsylvania, Ohio and New York.

At Renovo, 60 miles to the west, even worse conditions were reported as the American Red Cross set up a disaster committee to aid persons made homeless by the rising waters.

Forty miles north of Williamsport, at Towanda, the airport was under 10 feet of water and Red Cross workers were unable to reach the town over flood-drenched highways and rail lines.

Near Towanda, a family of six persons was trapped in a house which was being broken up by the surging waters. Three firemen attempted a rescue but failed when their boat upset. The firemen swam to safety.

Three Pennsylvania railroad crewmen swam to safety near Williamsport after an engine, which was shifting freight cars on a railroad bridge overturned on the flood-weakened approach.

At Harrisburg, state capital, the federal flood forecasting service said continued heavy rains north of Williamsport "warranted precautionary warnings that stages equal to those of March 1936, can be expected in the Williamsport-Lock Haven region."

Far to the east, at Wilkes-Barre, the Susquehanna river was only one foot below flood stage.

Three Drowned

Drowned were Charles Gilmore and Donald Bowman, two farmers from Mill Hall, Pa., near Lock Haven, who were trying to clear debris from a factory dam, and six-year-old George Raymond Barton, drowned in rain-swollen Paxton.

Big Unions Hint They May Seek New Standard Bearer

Continue Blasting Truman

Labor Legislation Pending Has Union Heads Wild In Pressure Move

WASHINGTON, May 28.—The big unions, boiling with political wrath for President Truman, dropped some oblique hints today that they might switch to another standard bearer, with Henry A. Wallace and Claude Pepper heading the list of acceptables.

Capitol Hill politicians agreed the secretary of commerce and Senator Pepper (D-Fla.) are the likeliest beneficiaries in any such shift of allegiance, but they wanted more concrete evidence that one might be in the making.

The general opinion is that it's too early to tell whether the administration's handling of the strike emergency has ended the 13-year-old labor-Democratic coalition.

The way Republicans appeared to be seizing on the situation provided Democrats food for thought.

Stassen, Taft Obect
Lawmakers noted that both former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota, and Senator Taft (R-Ohio) were among the first to join with the unions in urging congress to go slow in empowering the president to draft workers striking against the government.

Political speculation mounted but three of the nation's most powerful labor organizations kept up a heavy drumfire of criticism on the program Mr. Truman proposed for coping with strikes in vital industries during the reconversion period.

CIO President Philip Murray was among the latest to blast at Mr. Truman's proposals.

In a telegram to all senators, Murray contended that "in a moment of wild hysteria an attempt is being made to stampede through congress legislation which has as its sole aim the destruction of the labor movement of this nation."

He criticized not only Mr. Truman's emergency strike control program but also at the senate ver-

Alumni Banquet Set For Friday Evening

"It Ain't Necessarily So" will be the subject of Ralf Kircher, who will speak at the Salem High School Alumni banquet at 6:30 p. m. Friday at the Masonic temple.

Kircher, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Kircher of Salem, takes his topic from his book of the same name which is soon to be published. The illustrations for the new book were done by Guyas Williams, who collaborated with the late Robert Benchley on several of the comedian's publications.

The program for the banquet has not yet been completed but will include the annual presentation of scholarship awards to three members of the Class of 1946. Judge Joel C. Sharp is in charge of the scholarship committee. Musical selections by several members of this year's graduating class have also been arranged.

Veterans of World War II, who will receive diplomas tomorrow evening along with the Class of 1946, are eligible to attend the banquet. Lozier Caplan, secretary of the Alumni association, announced today.

Following the banquet, a dance will be held in the temple ballroom. The dance is open to undergraduates and former students of Salem High school as well as to Alumni.

CITY LICKS SERIOUS WOUNDS AS RECORD RAINFALL CEASES TODAY

COAL STRIKE END NEARING AS LEWIS, OPERATORS CALL IN LAWYERS ON FINAL DRAFT

By HAROLD W. WARD

WASHINGTON, May 28.—The end of the crippling coal strike appeared in sight today as the government and John L. Lewis hammered out final details of a new work contract.

Expectations of a speedy peace ran high in official circles as Lewis got ready for another session (at 11 a. m.) with Secretary of the Interior Krug, who took over the bituminous mines for the government a week ago.

Encouraging evidence was the fact union attorneys were called in to work on the legal points—something that rarely happens unless the rough draft of a contract has been blocked out.

The mines still were idle despite the government's appeal for the men to return to work, and the nation's coal supply shrank hourly toward the danger point.

The feeling pervading the capital was that a break in the two month old strike was inescapable, but the general expectation was that success on a new contract would produce it without the necessity for more drastic government intervention.

Have Little Comment
Lewis and Krug had tantalizingly little to say about the status of the negotiations. Krug yesterday reported "some progress."

Lewis checked all questions on progress to Krug, but the husky UMW chieftain did not look unhappy when he wound up six and one half hours of conferences.

Krug was expected to show the waiting soft coal operators what kind of agreement he wanted to make with Lewis, but he gave no indication last night just when he would do that.

Government labor and economic advisers are quick to say privately they think any increase of more than 18½ cents an hour would collide with the wage-price policy. That is the "pattern" for big industry in the postwar period.

They also doubt that Lewis would take any less—since his one-time friend but now arch rival, Philip Murray, gained that much for the striking CIO-Steelworkers and CIO-Auto Workers.

Ohio Outlook
Coal supplies at most of Ohio's public services are adequate for several weeks' running, but a number of the state's industries may shut down unless the miners quickly return to work.

Hardest hit by the current strike, an Associated Press survey disclosed today, are a group of industries at Cleveland. And of this group Republic Steel reported the most serious shortage.

A smaller but nonetheless important firm there—Jack & Heintz Precision Industries—has announced closure regardless of when the strike is terminated.

Ferro Machine & Foundry Co., at Cleveland has been idle for three weeks but received enough coal during the truce to man a 125-worker department for three days.

Prospects are brighter at such public services of the state as hospitals, gas and electric utilities. In general, representatives reported no immediate cause for worry and said stockpiles should last between three and four weeks.

PLAN N. GEORGETOWN MEMORIAL PROGRAM
Memorial Day services will be observed at North Georgetown with a parade at 1 p. m. (E.S.T.) Thursday, when the Fairmount home band of Alliance will lead the marching group to the cemetery.

A service will be held at 2 p. m. in the North Georgetown Lutheran church. Rev. Bench of Homewood will deliver an address. All servicemen are urged to attend.

Driver Hurt As Car Is Struck On Roadside
O. E. Hissom, 41, of New Waterford, suffered slight leg injuries when his car was hit by a machine operated by George McClelland, 37, of Cuyahoga Falls, at 8:30 p. m. yesterday on Route 14, east of Unity.

McClelland told state highway patrolmen that the accident occurred as he attempted to stop beside Hissom's car, which was parked off the highway.

Hissom was treated at Salem City hospital.

Trio of Butchers Closed In Lisbon By OPA Rule

LISBON, May 28.—Three meat markets were forced to close here this week, not because of the meat shortage, but because OPA slaughter quotas for the month of May had been used up.

The markets, operating under federal permits, supply the greater part of this community by slaughtering their own meats.

However, quotas based on former years have proved inadequate because of great numbers of servicemen discharged and returned to civilian life, the merchants point out.

The way Republicans appeared to be seizing on the situation provided Democrats food for thought.

Marine Troop Train Jumps Rails, 3 Dead

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 28.—A Maryland-bound troop train carrying 208 marines to a discharge center jumped the tracks 15 miles southeast of here yesterday and scalding steam from the overturned locomotive killed two leathernecks and a Pennsylvania railroad engineer.

More than 30 other marines, all of whom had seen action in the Pacific, were injured, several seriously.

Naval authorities withheld names of the marine dead and injured. The dead engineer was C. E. Merget, 56, of Philadelphia, burned to death while trapped in the cab of his locomotive.

One of the marines died at Harrisburg hospital. Authorities there said he wore a dog-tag inscribed with the name of Earl Ireton. The other serviceman died at the Mid-dietown Air Depot hospital.

Damage Reports Mount After 10.78 Inch Deluge Over Three-Day Interval

Heavy downpours, which have swept Salem and vicinity since noon Saturday, ceased this morning after 10.78 inches of rain had been recorded in less than 72 hours, leaving the city to recover from the effects of the biggest deluge on record.

The rainfall in Salem is among the highest reported over the tri-state area struck by the downpours over the weekend. City sewage treatment plant employees, who make recording here, said no heavier rainfall in a similar period could be found among the old records.

Damage in this sector was not limited to the immediate Salem area, high waters being reported throughout the rest of the county and over most of Stark and Mahoning counties.

High water has forced the closing of many highways in this area and slashed operations of at least one Salem plant, the Electric Furnace Co., to a minimum. Several other firms were also hindered by the situation. Mullins being among the hardest hit.

Considerable damage was reported at the Furnace shop where water reached a height of one and a half feet on the ground floor, ruining patterns and lumber supplies.

Plant officials said today that only the office force and drafting room employees were at work and that full operations will not be resumed for several days.

Many Roads Closed
Route 62 between Salem and Alliance is blocked by flood waters at two points while Route 45, between Salem and Lisbon, is impassable since high waters have risen over the bridge at Eagleton's Glens. The road to Lisbon via Washingtonville and Leetonia, however, is open.

Route 9, south of New Garden, Route 30, west of East Rochester and Route 14, near Millville, were impassable yesterday but are reported open today by state highway patrolmen. Routes 344 and 588 near Franklin Square are still closed.

Property damage in this area is expected to amount to thousands of dollars. Damage to new gardens is severe since most of the topsoil has been washed away. The city's business district also suffered, water damaging basement stocks.

Two new houses, under construction, were collapsed by the flooding waters late Sunday. Both are in the Jones addition, off Newgarden st.

Extensive damage to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Barnes of the Georgetown road was reported today after a dam across the road washed out flooding their property.

Part of the cellar wall was washed away at the Barnes home and water reached first floor level. The force of the sudden "flash flood" carried away a wagon and ruined the lawn and shrubbery surrounding the home.

Unestimated damage was caused to the Excelsior Fire Clay Co., Lisbon, when a nearby creek overflowed suddenly filling glowing clay kilns with a foot of water, Supt. Earl Stevens said today.

Lose Stocks
The Law Feed mill, near the Wellsville bridge in Lisbon, lost a large stock of feed and salt as 12 feet of water filled the basement. Employees could remove only one motor to the first floor before the waters rose. No estimate as to the damage could be made.

Four feet of water flowed through the county highway garage at Lisbon.

More than 2,000 acres of land between Lisbon and Leetonia were completely under water as a result of an overflow at Eagleton's Glens. Swollen Beaver creek isolated Elkton, a community of 25 families and 200 residents, forcing six families to take refuge in the Methodist church which is situated on high ground.

Water is a first floor level in every house in the community.

At East Liverpool, the Ohio river rose at a rate of a half-foot per hour and reached an 18-foot stage at Dam 8. Lock attendants, however, said there was no danger of a flood.

The Erie and New York Central tracks in Youngstown are under four inches of water, it is reported.

Untangling a Crisis

THE HIGH DRAMA of the chief executive of the United States appealing for authority to save the nation in a domestic crisis makes May 25, 1946, a red-letter day in our history.

No one who witnessed President Truman's appearance before the joint session of Congress Saturday afternoon or heard his appeal by radio will forget the crisis which forced him to take this extraordinary step.

The greatest nation on earth was literally fighting for its life. The government of the United States had been challenged to prove it could meet an internal threat to its national security fully as serious as the threat of war.

Mr. Truman said, as he had said the preceding night, what the people wanted him to say—that the public right is more important than any minority right. He resolved the issue of recovery or ruin for the United States. Continuation of the railroad strike would have meant ruin.

The prompt decision of the executives of the two striking railroad labor unions to order their men back to work, once they knew what the chief executive was prepared to do if the strike continued, acknowledged the force of Mr. Truman's action to act. It has created a new and cleaner atmosphere for continuing national recovery from the war. Government has reasserted its ability to govern in behalf of all the people—except that up to last night John L. Lewis and his coal miners had not yet conceded the point.

The railroad workers are back on their jobs. Will miners go back to mining coal, or will Mr. Truman, Congress and the country face a new and, if anything, more troublesome crisis?

PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S handling of the strike crisis probably has thrown the issue over organized labor's legal position into the 1946 congressional election, for a popular decision.

In his recommendation Saturday afternoon for permanent legislation to avert a repetition of the crisis now being untangled, Mr. Truman ignored permanent legislative proposals already pending in Congress.

The House has passed the Case bill. The Senate has over-ridden the cautious proposals of its labor committee and thrown the subject of labor law reform open to amendments from the floor.

The Senate bill that finally will emerge, to be reconciled in conference committee with the Case bill, may contain so many points of difference a deadlock would ensue. The conference committee then would have to throw the subject back into the two houses of Congress.

Mr. Truman has cleared the way, as far as his influence is concerned, for a studied approach to labor law reform next year. Such an approach was submitted to Congress last June in legislation proposed by the then Senator Burton of Ohio, Senator Ball of Minnesota and Senator Hatch of New Mexico. It was disregarded.

There is insufficient time now for preparation of a new set of recommendations, or for congressional action even if the Burton-Ball-Hatch recommendations of a year ago were to be revived. The matter of permanent legislation in all probability will be delayed until the new Congress convenes next January. Every candidate for either house of Congress will be obliged to make his position clear in this year's campaign.

THE IMMEDIATE strike emergency will pass. There are more emergencies in the offing—a marine shipping strike is threatened—but these should yield to the strong emergency legislation recommended Saturday by Mr. Truman. This is temporary authority, but it is extremely potent. Some of it should be included in whatever permanent laws ultimately are adopted.

Public opinion, crystallized by the railroad strike, has forced the issue of public vs. minority rights. We were a long time reaching this crisis and will be a long time working out of it, but the United States is on its way out of the woods.

There is no animosity toward unions, but only a strong popular conviction that excesses of the leaders of a few unions have made restrictions imperative. The labor movement will be the better for what has happened.

The temporary power to be given the chief executive is obviously intended to be a shotgun over the mantel, for use only in direst emergency. The fact is if any strike were to force the government to employ such extreme power, now that it has been created, the cure might be as bad as the disease.

By hindsight, when the excitements and irritations of recent days have subsided, it will appear that the United States has done a relatively easy thing the hard way. The easy way would have been to judge in advance the effect of certain laws that were dictated by emotions. We should never have waited until inflation and the "morning-after" of World War II to deal with a crisis brewing for so many years that everybody knew it was coming.

Papa Knows Best

The contract of the United Automobile Workers with the Ford Motor Co. contains a provision outlawing wildcat strikes or stoppages and disciplining instigators of and participants in such strikes. Later, UAW officials renounced this provision as a matter of future policy.

Now, a majority of rank-and-file UAW members in Ford plants have voted in favor of this provision. But George P. Addes, UAW secretary-treasurer, says that it is impossible to reconcile the Ford contract with the later statement of policy, and that no future contracts will include such a clause.

This seems neither very democratic nor very sensible. What the Ford UAW members did was simply to vote that it was the responsibility of both signatories to a contract to live up to the contract's provisions, even when one signatory is a labor union.

The vote revealed that the majority favor legal responsibility, as it is found in non-union walks of life, over special privilege. The workers' voluntary expression of such a sentiment almost surely will win them new friends outside the labor movement. A few more such voluntary expressions and there would have been no serious threat of "anti-labor" legislation.

But the UAW officials do not see that, or choose to ignore it. They have now reversed their position. And it seems to be a case of Papa knows best—even when Papa changes his mind.

Fiftieth Anniversary of X-Ray

BY HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

THE first X-ray picture ever taken was made in 1896.

Fifty years is a short time in the progress of science, yet in the last half-century so many new uses have been devised for these deeply penetrating rays, that they stand out today as one of the greatest of scientific gifts to mankind.

The X-ray machine, with its ability to take photographs of internal structures and organs, is invaluable for diagnosis if it served no other purpose at all. It gives the doctor a second and miraculous pair of eyes which can peer into the body and scrutinize the condition of bones and other hidden tissues.

Setting Fractures

In the setting of fractures, for instance, it not only shows the operator exactly the condition of the broken bone, but enables him to check his work to be sure that the bone is properly set, and to make sure that healing is completed.

But in addition to this valuable service that the X-ray renders it is also used for the early treatment of tumor growths such as cancer. In just this one way it has probably saved or prolonged thousands and thousands of lives. It is so valuable in this one regard that many hospitals have set up giant X-ray machines in massive lead-shielded rooms for this exclusive use.

Acute Infections

Then, too, the X-ray also has been employed to a great extent in the treatment of various acute infections, such as acne or pimples, carbuncles or boils, infections of the lymph glands, and of the salivary glands known as the parotids, which are located just in front of the ear. Before the sulfonamide drugs became available, X-ray treatments were employed for a wide-spread skin infection known as erysipelas.

Carbuncles and boils can usually be made much less painful and brought to a head more quickly when X-ray treatments are employed. Following the X-ray treatment, if the boil comes to a head, the core is removed and hot wet applications applied. If these infections are treated with X-ray early, they often can be kept from coming to a head altogether and disappear.

Infections of the lymph glands in the neck are also brought to a

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backaches quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 1 pint a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headache and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Untangling a Crisis

THE HIGH DRAMA of the chief executive of the United States appealing for authority to save the nation in a domestic crisis makes May 25, 1946, a red-letter day in our history.

No one who witnessed President Truman's appearance before the joint session of Congress Saturday afternoon or heard his appeal by radio will forget the crisis which forced him to take this extraordinary step.

The greatest nation on earth was literally fighting for its life. The government of the United States had been challenged to prove it could meet an internal threat to its national security fully as serious as the threat of war.

Mr. Truman said, as he had said the preceding night, what the people wanted him to say—that the public right is more important than any minority right. He resolved the issue of recovery or ruin for the United States. Continuation of the railroad strike would have meant ruin.

The prompt decision of the executives of the two striking railroad labor unions to order their men back to work, once they knew what the chief executive was prepared to do if the strike continued, acknowledged the force of Mr. Truman's decision to act. It has created a new and cleaner atmosphere for continuing national recovery from the war. Government has reasserted its ability to govern in behalf of all the people—except that up to last night John L. Lewis and his coal miners had not yet conceded the point.

The railroad workers are back on their jobs. Will miners go back to mining coal, or will Mr. Truman, Congress and the country face a new and, if anything, more troublesome crisis?

PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S handling of the strike crisis probably has thrown the issue over organized labor's legal position into the 1946 congressional election, for a popular decision.

In his recommendation Saturday afternoon for permanent legislation to avert a repetition of the crisis now being untangled, Mr. Truman ignored permanent legislative proposals already pending in Congress.

The House has passed the Case bill. The Senate has over-ridden the cautious proposals of its labor committee and thrown the subject of labor law reform open to amendments from the floor.

The Senate bill that finally will emerge, to be reconciled in conference committee with the Case bill, may contain so many points of difference a deadlock would ensue. The conference committee then would have to throw the subject back into the two houses of Congress.

Mr. Truman has cleared the way, as far as his influence is concerned, for a studied approach to labor law reform next year. Such an approach was submitted to Congress last June in legislation proposed by the then Senator Burton of Ohio, Senator Ball of Minnesota and Senator Hatch of New Mexico. It was disregarded.

There is insufficient time now for preparation of a new set of recommendations, or for congressional action even if the Burton-Ball-Hatch recommendations of a year ago were to be revived. The matter of permanent legislation in all probability will be delayed until the new Congress convenes next January. Every candidate for either house of Congress will be obliged to make his position clear in this year's campaign.

THE IMMEDIATE strike emergency will pass. There are more emergencies in the offing—a marine shipping strike is threatened—but these should yield to the strong emergency legislation recommended Saturday by Mr. Truman. This is temporary authority, but it is extremely potent. Some of it should be included in whatever permanent laws ultimately are adopted.

Public opinion, crystallized by the railroad strike, has forced the issue of public vs. minority rights. We were a long time reaching this crisis and will be a long time working out of it, but the United States is on its way out of the woods.

There is no animosity toward unions, but only a strong popular conviction that excesses of the leaders of a few unions have made restrictions imperative. The labor movement will be the better for what has happened.

The temporary power to be given the chief executive is obviously intended to be a shotgun over the mantel, for use only in dire emergency. The fact is if any strike were to force the government to employ such extreme power, now that it has been created, the cure might be as bad as the disease.

By hindsight, when the excitement and irritations of recent days have subsided, it will appear that the United States has done a relatively easy thing the hard way. The easy way would have been to judge in advance the effect of certain laws that were dictated by emotions. We should never have waited until inflation and the "morning-after" of World War II to deal with a crisis brewing for so many years that everybody knew it was coming.

Papa Knows Best

The contract of the United Automobile Workers with the Ford Motor Co. contains a provision outlawing wildcat strikes or stoppages and disciplining instigators of and participants in such strikes. Later, UAW officials renounced this provision as a matter of future policy.

Now, a majority of rank-and-file UAW members in Ford plants have voted in favor of this provision. But George P. Addes, UAW secretary-treasurer, says that it is impossible to reconcile the Ford contract with the later statement of policy, and that no future contracts will include such a clause.

This seems neither very democratic nor very sensible. What the Ford UAW members did was simply to vote that it was the responsibility of both signatories to a contract to live up to the contract's provisions, even when one signatory is a labor union.

The vote revealed that the majority favor legal responsibility, as it is found in non-union walks of life, over special privilege. The workers' voluntary expression of such a sentiment almost surely will win them new friends outside the labor movement. A few more such voluntary expressions and there would have been no serious threat of "anti-labor" legislation.

But the UAW officials do not see that, or choose to ignore it. They have now reversed their position. And it seems to be a case of Papa knows best—even when Papa changes his mind.

For Wednesday, May 29.

THE final accomplishments and progress of this day may depend upon the shrewd, astute, thoughtful and economical manner in which obstacles, varied difficulties, connivance and subtleties are attacked, and this with uncompromising and concentrated efforts and practical skill.

Change of place and plans also are recommended, with fresh understandings, agreements or contracts in which superiors or employers may be disposed to cooperate. Count the costs before action and in all be amiable and cautious.

Those whose birthday it is are confronted by a year in which all may depend upon the diligent, cautious, capable and far-seeing grasp of difficult, frustrating or sinister circumstances which have to be strenuously and practically attacked, and with perseverance, patience and endurance.

In critical moments, it would be wise to confer with those in more experienced and influential station, at the same time refraining from reckless, quarrelsome or extravagant actions. Physical danger also is to be guarded against.

A child born on this day will be well equipped to meet many dangers in life, its dependability and fortitude attracting help from those in high places.

Wheel Balance Important To Car Usage, Klein Says

There are a number of parts on all automobiles which the average motorist either does not understand or simply ignores, points out Matt Klein, manager of the specialized "Bear System" garage at 813 Newgarden st.

Wheel balance and alignment are particularly important, he added, because unless a wheel is allowed to roll without scuffing, abnormal and rapid wear will occur—not only on tires, but on the vital front end and steering mechanism parts.

"This work has to be done by trained and reliable mechanics," Klein says, "but the car should be taken to them regularly for checking. Unbalanced wheels bring about severe pounding and higher speeds are likely to produce 'shimmying'."

"Wheels that are out of alignment, tending to run in slightly different directions, will literally scrub the tread off the tire. A wheel which is only one-half inch out of line will drag the tire sideways $7 feet in each mile. This condition develops from normal wear on bearings, bushings, and steering linkage, as well as from accident's, road shocks, abusive use or lack of proper lubrication. Regular lubrication and checking will cut down the needs for repairs by catching faults in time for correction.

Regular Inspections Important to Drivers

H. I. Hine of the Hine Motor Co., local Ford dealer, believes that too many motorists overlook some of the most vital needs when having their cars serviced and suggests the following statements be given serious consideration.

"Wheel bearings, steering assemblies, and springs ordinarily require only regular inspection and lubrication. This should be done at regular intervals to prevent abnormal wear."

"The transmission, as the name implies, carries the power from the engine to the propeller shaft and the rear wheels. Under normal service, the only attention required is the checking of the level of the lubricant—about every thousand miles. The lubricant should be changed completely twice a year."

"The differential and rear assembly not only support the weight of the rear portion of the car, but transmit the power from the drive shaft to the rear wheels. It seldom gives any trouble, but if through an accident or lack of lubrication, it does break down, its repair is difficult and expensive. Lubrication is particularly important to the differential. The lubricant level should be checked whenever the car is greased and drained and refilled twice a year."

Airplanes Flying Low Force Farmer Out of Business

WASHINGTON, May 28.—The supreme court held today that if low flying planes prevented enjoying or using property it would be like just moving in and taking it over.

Accordingly it called for more information about the loss claimed by a farmer who said army planes from a nearby airport had chased him out of the chicken business.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lee Causby, whose small farm is near the Crenshaw-High Point, N. C., airport, was awarded a $20,000 award in U. S. Court of Claims contending the planes made their home uninhabitable and caused them to abandon the chicken trade, their means of livelihood.

In a 5-2 decision Justice Douglas said that if the farmer's property could not be used for any purpose because of the flights "their loss would be complete . . . as if the United States had entered upon the surface of the land and taken exclusive possession of it."

"Flights over private lands are not a taking of property," Douglas said, "unless they are so low and so frequent as to be a direct or immediate interference of the enjoyment and use of the land."

May Crowning Rites At Catholic Church

The altars were beautifully decorated with pink and white snapdragons and cathedral candles forming an emblematic design of the letter "M" for the May crowning and Living Rosary ceremonies Sunday in St. Paul's Catholic church in which approximately 100 children took part.

Each child carried a flower and placed it before the Blessed Virgin's statue in the sanctuary. Pink, white and yellow snapdragons and yellow daisies were used.

Frances Kordan, May Queen, crowned the Blessed Virgin with a garland of flowers. Joanne Bova was the attendant, Rita Joseph, the crown bearer, and Frank Corso and Larry Brennan, the train bearers.

The program included these numbers: Hymn, "Immaculate Mother;" procession and Rosary; crowning and act of consecration; address, Rev. Fr. Auditor Charges Irregularities In State Board Bills

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, May 28.—Charging irregularities, State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson said today he was withholding payrolls for two members of the state board of cosmetology totaling $300 which were presented last December.

One board member, Edna D. Stout, he said had submitted a payroll which included $750 a day for nine days when she was in Boston and also expenses covering the trip. The Boston trip, he said, could not be construed as a board meeting for which payment could be made.

The other bill submitted by member Alice Austin, Ferguson said, covered four days for attending board meetings when no other

Wheel Balance Important To Car Usage, Klein Says

There are a number of parts on all automobiles which the average motorist either does not understand or simply ignores, points out Matt Klein, manager of the specialized "Bear System" garage at 813 Newgarden st.

Wheel balance and alignment are particularly important, he added, because unless a wheel is allowed to roll without scuffing, abnormal and rapid wear will occur—not only on tires, but on the vital front end and steering mechanism parts.

"This work has to be done by trained and reliable mechanics," Klein says, "but the car should be taken to them regularly for checking. Unbalanced wheels bring about severe pounding and higher speeds are likely to produce 'shimmying'.

"Wheels that are out of alignment, tending to run in slightly different directions, will literally scrub the tread off the tire. A wheel which is only one-half inch out of line will drag the tire sideways 87 feet in each mile. This condition develops from normal wear on bearings, bushings, and steering linkage, as well as from accidentists, road shocks, abusive use or lack of proper lubrication. Regular lubrication and checking will cut down the needs for repairs by catching faults in time for correction.

Regular Inspections Important to Drivers

H. I. Hine of the Hine Motor Co., local Ford dealer, believes that too many motorists overlook some of the most vital needs when having their cars serviced and suggests the following statements be given serious consideration.

"Wheel bearings, steering assemblies, and springs ordinarily require only regular inspection and lubrication. This should be done at regular intervals to prevent abnormal wear.

"The transmission, as the name implies, carries the power from the engine to the propeller shaft and the rear wheels. Under normal service, the only attention required is the checking of the level of the lubricant—about every thousand miles. The lubricant should be changed completely twice a year.

"The differential and rear assembly not only support the weight of the rear portion of the car, but transmit the power from the drive shaft to the rear wheels. It seldom gives any trouble, but if through an accident or lack of lubrication, it does break down, its repair is difficult and expensive. Lubrication is particularly important to the differential. The lubricant level should be checked whenever the car is greased, and drained and refilled twice a year."

Airplanes Flying Low Force Farmer Out of Business

WASHINGTON, May 28.—The supreme court held today that if low flying planes prevented enjoying or using property it would be like just moving in and taking it over.

Accordingly it called for more information about the loss claimed by a farmer who said army planes from a nearby airport had chased him out of the chicken business.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lee Causby, whose small farm is near the Greensboro-High Point, N. C., airport, won a $20,000 award in the U. S. Court of Claims contending the planes made their home uninhabitable and caused them to abandon the chicken trade, their means of livelihood.

In a 5-2 decision Justice Douglas said that if the farmer's property could not be used for any purpose because of the flights "their loss would be complete . . . as if the United States had entered upon the surface of the land and taken exclusive possession of it."

"Flights over private lands are not a taking (of property)," Douglas said, "unless they are so low and so frequent as to be a direct or immediate interference of the enjoyment and use of the land."

May Crowning Rites At Catholic Church

The altars were beautifully decorated with pink and white snapdragons and cathedral candles forming an emblematic design of the letter "M" for the May crowning.

Each child carried a flower and placed it before the Blessed Virgin's statue in the sanctuary. Pink, white and yellow snapdragons and yellow daisies were used.

Frances Kordan, May Queen, crowned the Blessed Virgin with a garland of flowers. Joanne Bova was the attendant, Rita Joseph, the crown bearer, and Frank Corso and Larry Brennan, the train bearers.

The program included these numbers: Hymn, "Immaculate Mother;" procession and Rosary; crowning and act of consecration; address, Rev. Fr. William Appell, assistant pastor; hymn, "Ave Maria;" benediction of the Blessed Sacrament, at which these hymns were sung, "Pater Angelicus," "Tantum Ergo," "Blessed Be God" and "Holy God We Praise Thy Name;" recessional, "Queen of May."

SENATOR GLASS, 88. DEAD EARLY TODAY

WASHINGTON, May 28.—Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, longtime member of congress, "father of the federal reserve system" and once a cabinet member, died early today of heart failure.

The oldest member of the senate, he was 88 last Jan. 4.

Death came in his apartment at the Mayflower hotel, where he lived with his second wife, Mary.

Glass had been so ill that he was unable to appear in the senate since June, 1942. Because of this a Virginia Republican sought unsuccessfully last year to have his seat declared vacant and a special election called to name a successor. Virginia courts threw the suit out and the supreme court declined to review the case.

would cool off for six months while the legislature investigates the situation and "reasonable" legislation might be evolved.

But the Republicans who supported the revised Case bill which the senate passed last week, had the good word for any such delay. They joined Senator Pepper, (D.) in a snarling debate that ran into the night. And they seemed likely too, to support a threatened move by Pepper to send the measure back to the interstate commerce committee for full-dress hearings. A settlement in the coal dispute might put added impetus behind this move.

Pepper said after he quit at 11:14 p.m. last night that Senator Mead (D-NY) is prepared to carry on the fight against the bill today. The administration squeaked by with a 10 vote margin in the first test it faced.

This was a move by Murray last night to recess the senate until today, a proposal against which Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky.) read some of his prestige.

sion of the house-approved Case bill.

Murray's broadside was considered as rough treatment as the CIO chief ever gave any administration-sponsored proposal, but AFL President William Green was equally vehement, denouncing the bill as advocating "slave labor under fascism."

As the two big unions hit out at Mr. Truman's proposals, the CIO United Auto Workers wired Murray urging he take "immediate steps" for "joint action by all organized labor" to defeat the program.

The CIO-AFL attacks came in rapid follow-up to the announcement of A. F. Whitney, the Trainmen Brotherhood chief, that his union stood ready to pour millions into coming campaigns not only to defeat congressmen voting for Mr. Truman's emergency strike program but also to defeat Mr. Truman in 1948.

The National Farmers union joined in the fray to assail the emergency program as "naked, open fascism," and called the situation "a shameful hour in American history."

The National Citizens political Action committee also condemned the program as "totalitarian" and urged the senate to reject it.

All this added up to an unusual assault on a party leader who also is president, but National Chairman Robert E. Hannegan contended it was a temporary commotion which involved no break with labor. He called on the trainmen to repudiate Whitney, asserting the "Democratic party and labor have fought long and hard together" and "will go on working together."

creek at Harrisburg yesterday while at play. The body was not recovered although firemen grappled from boats for five hours.

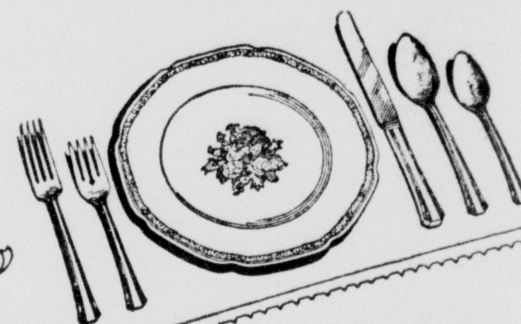

Property damage in Northern and Western Pennsylvania was estimated at more than $500,000. From other points, damages expected to be in the thousands were still to be reported.

A flash flood in Tioga county (Pa.) sent the Susquehanna river boiling out of its banks last night to isolate Renovo, a community of 3,800 persons, as earth slides blocked the Williamsport branch of the Pennsylvania railroad and cut away telephone poles.

sion of the house-approved Case bill.

Murray's broadside was considered as rough treatment as the CIO chief ever gave any administration-sponsored proposal, but AFL President William Green was equally vehement, denouncing the bill as advocating "slave labor under fascism."

As the two big unions hit out at Mr. Truman's proposals, the CIO United Auto Workers wired Murray urging he take "immediate steps" for "joint action by all organized labor" to defeat the program.

The CIO-AFL attacks came in rapid follow-ups to the announcement of A. F. Whitney, the Trainmen Brotherhood chief, that his union stood ready to pour millions into coming campaigns not only to defeat congressmen voting for Mr. Truman's emergency strike program but also to defeat Mr. Truman in 1948.

The National Farmers union joined in the fray to assail the emergency program as "naked, open fascism," and called the situation "a shameful hour in American history."

The National Citizens political action committee also condemned the program as "totalitarian" and urged the senate to reject it.

All this added up to an unusual assault on a party leader who also is president, but National Chairman Robert E. Hannegan contended it was a temporary commotion which involved no break with labor. He called on the trainmen to repudiate Whitney, asserting the "Democratic party and labor have fought long and hard together" and "will go on working together."

COURT SUSTAINS ICC RAIL RULING

Says Roads Must Reduce Rates As Stipulated In New Order

(By Associated Press)
PITTSBURGH, May 28.—A three-judge federal court yesterday upheld an Interstate Commerce Commission order reducing freight rates on bituminous coal shipped from Pennsylvania, Maryland, and West Virginia into the Youngstown area. The rate reduction becomes effective June 1.

Eight railroads had petitioned the court for dismissal of the order, claiming it would cost them $400,000 a year. They contended the ICC used "erroneous distances" in computing reasonableness of the rates.

On the other hand, the Youngstown Chamber of Commerce, which intervened in the case on the side of the defendant ICC, said small consumers in the Youngstown district would lose $8,000 a month if the ICC orders were not upheld.

The court declared that most of the arguments offered by the railroads were "so slight as to merit comparatively little attention even from the plaintiffs."

The railroads were the Baltimore and Ohio, the Bessmer and Lake Erie, the Monongahela Railway Co., New York Central, the Pennsylvania, Pittsburgh and Lake Erie, the Pittsburgh and West Virginia, and the Pittsburgh, Charlotte and Youghiogheny Railway Co.

Mount Union Gets 3 New Instructors

Mount Union college, Alliance, will welcome to its faculty this year new instructors in sociology, political science, and English.

We're Investing $50,000,000 More IN THIS AREA

—to bring you more and better natural gas service

In the next three years the subsidiaries of Columbia Gas & Electric Corporation will spend $50,000,000 to expand the System's facilities for service.

This sum will be spent in addition to the $450,000,000 already invested in plants and equipment of the integrated Columbia System that serves more than 1,700 communities.

Why? Because in 4 years of war, planned construction gave way to vital wartime needs.

Because more and more gas will be required by homes, industries and commercial enterprises Columbia serves.

And because we firmly believe the rich territory served by Columbia will produce more goods, build more homes, offer more jobs and more opportunities than ever before.

Cincinnati Gas & Electric Company, and the Dayton Power and Light Company, will soon be separated from the System, but will continue to get their gas at wholesale from the Columbia System.

Here is what Columbia is doing. These projects will be complete and operating by the end of 1948.

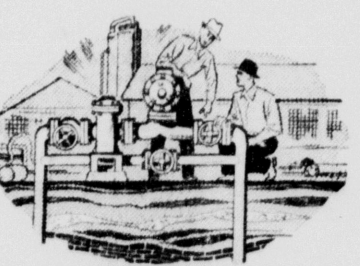

NEW PIPELINES—Two hundred and fifty miles of large size pipeline will be added to the System to facilitate the flow of more gas.

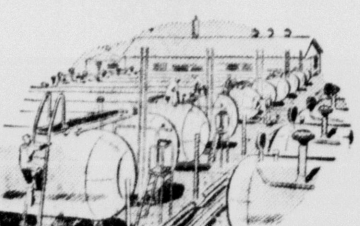

NEW COMPRESSOR STATIONS—Three new compressor stations, strategically placed, and additions to others. Compressors maintain the pressure behind the gas flame, help pump gas brought to Columbia from the rich Texas fields to augment supplies from fields in Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

NEW GAS WELLS—More than 1,000 new wells will be drilled, seeking new supplies of gas in the Appalachian fields. Columbia now has in excess of 9,000 producing wells in this area.

ADDITIONAL STORAGE AREA—An additional field will be opened for underground storage, and others enlarged. Columbia has stored 38 billion cubic feet of gas in several underground storage reservoirs. It draws on this supply to meet the winter demands and then refills the reservoirs during the summer.

NEW RESERVE SUPPLY—Nine propane-air gas plants will be erected at advantageous points. They will be installed as a further aid in supplying cold weather demands. Propane-air gas may be interchanged with natural gas and has been employed extensively in this country to supplement natural gas supplies.

Fairview School Reunion Event of Next Saturday

The 24th annual reunion of the Water Valley-Fairview school will be held Saturday at the schoolhouse, south of Salem, near McCrackens' Corners on the Lisbon Rd. Mrs. Jennie F. Harris of Franklin st. is president of the association.

FOREIGNERS GET LAST CHANCE FOR SPEEDWAY RACES

Memorial Day Classic Set But For Six Places As Prelims Close

BY DALE BURGESS

INDIANAPOLIS, May 28.—The Indianapolis Motor speedway wound up qualifications today for the 33 starting positions in the 30th running of the 500-mile International Sweepstakes Thursday and gave foreign drivers their last chance to keep the Memorial day grind from being an All-American affair.

Only six places remained open in the field, but at least four of the earlier qualifiers could be nudged out of the race in trial runs today.

Some On Brink

The drivers most in danger of finding themselves eliminated were veteran Louis Durant of Los Angeles, who qualified at 118.973 miles per hour; Joie Chitwood of Reading, Pa., 119.816; Al Putnam of Indianapolis, 116.221, and Louis Tomei of Glendale, Calif., 119.193.

Five foreign drivers still had a chance to get into the lineup. Perhaps the most dangerous of the invaders was Rudi Caracciola of Switzerland, the auto racing champion of Europe. Caracciola was permitted to bring his German-built car but he had the pet speedster of Joe Thorne, Hollywood millionaire driver who is incapacitated by motorcycle accident injuries.

The French team of Harry O'Reilly Schell and Louis Gerard and its American ally, Duke Nalon of Beverly Hills, Calif., might cut a figure with its three Maseratis, two of them brand new.

Robert Arbutnot of London, England, victim of a series of mishaps with his Lagonda special, was still hopeful but was considered a doubtful qualifier.

Qualifiers yesterday were Hal Robson of Huntington Park, Calif., at 121.474 miles per hour; Buddy Rush of Ruskin, Fla., 116.268; Bill Sheffler of Los Angeles, 120.611, and George Barringer of Indianapolis, 120.623.

Fight Results

New York—Steve Belloise, 159½, Bronx, N. Y., stopped Coley Welch, 160½, Portland, Me., 2.

Boston—Pat Coninsky, 214, Patterson, N. J., stopped Bill Weinberg, 213 Chelsea, Mass., 9.

Cincinnati—Charley Banks, 169, Cincinnati, knocked out Sampson Powell, 161, Cleveland, 8.

Minneapolis—Willie Pep, 127½, Hartford, Conn., outpointed Jimmie Joyce, 123½, Gary, Ind., 8 (non title).

Troy, N. Y.—Charley McPherson, 161, Brooklyn, outpointed Art Robinson, 155, Pittsburgh, 10.

Softball Games Off Until Friday

All softball games in the Class A and B leagues have been postponed tonight and Wednesday, Joe M. Kelley, league manager, announced today.

League play will resume Friday as Kelley is attempting to get the diamond ready for Thursday's baseball games. Kelley said the diamonds are too wet to be worked on today and repairs from recent heavy rains will have to be made before play can begin again.

Chicago Cubs No Longer "Big Cousins" To Cards

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Thanks to Johnny Schmitz, a lefthander from Wausau, Wisconsin, the Chicago Cubs aren't "cousins" to the St. Louis Cardinals any more.

Failure of the Bruins to beat the Red Birds more than six times in 22 meetings last season almost cost Charley Grimm a pennant. The Cubs may not repeat as National league champs but it's a cinch they'll better their 1945 record against St. Louis.

Chicago has split even in six starts against the Cardinals with Schmitz earning two of the decisions, his latest being a 4-1 job in yesterday's only National league contest. St. Louis reached the lean southpaw for only five hits.

In 18 innings now the pennant favorites have nicked Grimm's new ace for only two runs and 12 safeties.

Tabbed Year's Best

Rival coaches tabbed Schmitz as "the pitcher with the most stuff in the National league" when they made the swing around the circuit for the first time. Schmitz hasn't been disappointing them.

While winning four and losing two, the ex-sailor has tossed one shutout, two one-run games against the Cards and coasted to a 19-3 romp over the New York Giants.

His only setbacks were a relief loss, 4-3, to Pittsburgh, and a heart-breaking 13-inning defeat in Brooklyn, 2-1.

Ted Lyons' regime as Chicago White Sox manager continued to produce successes as the Pale Hose reeled off a third straight triumph for the veteran pitcher, trimming St. Louis, 9-2.

With Luke Appling's four blows showing the way, the Sox buried the Browns under a 20-hit attack while Ed Lopat coasted home to his third verdict. Lopat had a shutout up to the eighth.

Rain forced postponement until tonight of the highly-publicized Yankee stadium night ball debut.

Washington will be the attraction with a crowd of almost 70,000 expected. As a 30,000-plus attendance is due to jam Ebbets field for Brooklyn's feud with the New York Giants, the big town's two after-dark games probably will draw in excess of 100,000 fans.

A Detroit-Cleveland night fray in the American also was washed out and rescheduled for tonight. Boston and Philadelphia were not scheduled in either league. The Cincinnati-Pittsburgh and New York-Brooklyn tilts in the National were postponed because of rain and wet grounds.

Cardinals Still Slipping Away to Pesos-Loaded Mexican League

(By Associated Press)

ST. LOUIS, May 28.—The departure for Mexico of three St. Louis Cardinals, worth about $200,000 on the baseball mart, round the club management worrying today over the possibility that the wealthy Pasquel brothers might lure other members of the squad south of the border.

As pitchers Fred Martin and Max Lanier packed their bags and left town by automobile yesterday to join infielder Lou Klein as high salaried players in the Pasquels' Mexican Baseball league, the Cardinals' owner, Sam Breadon, said he would take no steps to prevent others from jumping to Mexico.

"What's the use," Breadon said, "you can't force a man to work for you if he does not want to."

Lanier, leading National league pitcher when he quit the team, said before he departed "We know nothing of any other member of the Cardinals planning to leave the club."

But Manager Eddie Dyer, frankly admitting he was worried, was not so sure.

"I know many of the other players have been contacted by Mexican league representatives," Dyer said in Chicago. "It's hard to tell what they will do."

Heading for the Border

Max Lanier, right, and Fred Martin, former pitchers for the St. Louis Cardinals, pack their bags preparatory to their jump to the Vera Cruz team of the Mexican League. "We hope the Cards win the pennant but the Mexico League made too good an offer," they said.

Pace Is Best In Both Loops As Walker Is Displaced As First

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, May 28.—Mickey Vernon of Washington continued to top American league hitters with the majors' only .400 batting average on figures including Sunday's games but the National had a new leader in St. Louis' Whitey Kurowski.

SEES ENCOURAGING FOOD PREDICTIONS

WASHINGTON, May 28—Predictions of a record spurt in exports by this country and bumper crops abroad made the grain food outlook a trifle less gloomy today. Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson told a radio audience that "the next five weeks will witness the greatest single movement of a food commodity in world history."

This will come, he said, in a supreme effort "toward fulfillment of America's promise to export 400,000,000 bushels of wheat by the end of the current wheat marketing year, June 30."
